Bizarre calf mutilation stumps officers

A dead and mutilated $1000 calf was found early Thursday south of Canyon, and local law enforcement officials are trying to determine whether there is a link between the calf and similar bizarre mutilation-killings in East Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas.

Deaths of cattle in the other areas of the Southwest have been linked by some to devil worshippers and by others simply to vandals.

Deputy Ray Tinsley and Sheriff Cliff Longest decline to speculate on the nature of the calf-killing, but both admit it is "weird."

Veterinarian Dr. Allen Oltjen of Canyon confirms that the animal was mutilated by humans, but he is sending samples of tissue to Austin for laboratory testing to determine the cause of death of the Holstein heifer.

"It was definitely a mutilation," Oltjen said Thursday afternoon. "It wasn't coyotes."

Saying he's "never seen anything like it before," Oltjen said some aspects of the slaying have him baffled.

"I haven't determined if it was already dead (before the mutilation) or whether it was killed," he said. Oltjen said the mutilation itself would not have killed the calf.

"I think it was mutilated after it was already dead," he said.

But, he said he cannot determine the exact cause of death.

The calf was found by owner Louis Hinders about 10 a.m. Thursday on his dairy farm about six miles south of Canyon on Washington Street. The calf was found lying in a field about one-half mile from the road, according to Tinsley.

Tinsley said the seven-month-old calf had been mutilated with a knife. The female organs had been cut out and one teat had been cut off.

"It was people," Tinsley said of the attackers. "It's a weird damn thing. You could tell a knife had cut it."

Tinsley said he has no idea whether there is any connection between the bizarre killing here and several reported incidents of similar nature in the Fort Worth area, and Oklahoma and Kansas communities.

Law officers in those areas have speculated the deaths, in which the cattle were mutilated and sexual organs were severed or mutilated might be the acts of devil worshippers or other dealers in the occult.

Tinsley said the Randall County sheriff's office has received no other similar reports.

Sheriff Longest likewise declined to speculate on whether the death of the calf and the mutilation-deaths of cattle in other areas are in some way connected.

"I've never seen anything like that before," he said. "It's been happening in Oklahoma and Kansas and down south and then all of a sudden we got one."

Reports of similar incidents have subsided in recent weeks after a rash of reports earlier this year.

Hinders said the mutilation-killing at his place is the first such incident he Finishing up the semester, West Texas State University students line up to trade their used textbooks for money at the university bookstore on Thursday after a week of final examinations. After the books are sold and finals are completed comes the packing up and moving out. Dorm students wasted no time in hitting the highways Thursday as the term came to a close.

Presbyterian Church eyes sponsoring Viet family

Leaders of the First Presbyterian Church here are investigating the possibility of bringing to Canyon under the church's sponsorship one of the refugee Vietnamese families left homeless by the recent North Vietnamese take-over.

The Rev. Baldwin Stribling, pastor of the church, said the church is working through established channels within the national Presbyterian organization for information on exactly what red-tape must be dealt with to bring a family to the city.

He said that the national church organization is, in turn, waiting on guidelines from the federal government.

Apparently the guidelines must come from the federal Department of Health, Education and Welfare, he said.

Stribling said he has no idea when he will hear through the church on guideline decisions.

He said several other Presbyterian churches in the Panhandle area are also seeking information on possible sponsorship of a Vietnamese family.

The federal government is currently relocating Vietnamese refugees in California and Arkansas on military reservations.

The possibility of investigating the sponsorship of a refugee family in Canyon was an idea presented to the board of deacons of the local church by Mrs. Barbara Sawvell, a deacon.

Stribling said the session at the church, the ruling body, has not made a firm decision on whether to actually sponsor a family or not and is waiting to make a decision until more facts and guidelines are made available.

The session charged the deacons with the responsibility of gathering the necessary facts.

Mrs. Sawvell said she presented the idea to fellow deacons after recent news reports told of the plight of the refugees who left their country to be evacuated aboard American ships in the wake of communist victories in Vietnam.

Watching the news and seeing all these people, as Christians I thought maybe we needed to lend a hand," she said. "It's something we couldn't do as a family, but this would be a place where the church could help."

Mrs. Sawvell said she believes Canyon would be a good place for such a family.

"I think Canyon would be a good family town, she said. "I don't know why a family couldn't fit in."

Bill on courthouse annex awaits governor's okay

A bill which will allow Randall County commissioners to put offices for sheriff's deputies and for a justice of the peace in their now-under-construction South Amarillo courthouse annex has passed both Texas House and Senate and has gone to Gov. Dolph Briscoe for signature.

County Judge Woody Pond said he received word Friday morning that the measure has passed both houses.

Even though the governor's signature is the only remaining step in the legislative process for approval of the bill, Pond said he does not expect for commissioners to take any action on revamping plans for inclusion of those offices in their annex until after the document is signed.

Commissioners approved construction of the new $600,000 annex at Georgia and the Canyon Expressway in Amarillo last fall, but included in their plans only a tax office to be housed in the 10,000 square foot structure.

The plans had originally called for inclusion of a tax office, sheriff's deputies offices and an office for Justice of the Peace W. W. Hancock.

However, the sheriff's deputies offices and the justice of the peace office were dropped from the plans, while the square footage to accommodate them was retained, after commissioners came under fire from area news media.

Under current Texas law, an annex cannot include any office but the tax office.

The law which passed Senate and House approval would expand the authority of commissioners to include other offices in such an annex.

Pond said he does not yet know how much the additional offices will cost the county when included in the building.

Already, the county has issued $600,000 in certificates of obligation to cover the cost of the building as it is now being constructed.

Estimated cost of the current structure is about $579,000.

Amarillo Architect Art Vaughan said he has not figured the probable cost to add the additional offices to the building, but he said he figures the cost to put up partitions and finish the other offices for the sheriff and justice of the peace would be about $10 to $15 per square foot.

He said his firm has not yet begun work on plans for the completion of the inside of the Land buying could start this summer for I-27

Texas Highway Department officials are expected to begin negotiating with Randall County landowners this summer for the purchase of property involved in the construction of Interstate Highway 27 which will by-pass Canyon to the east.

Ed Timmons of the THD district office in Amarillo said it is possible right-of-way negotiations could begin in July for property which will be needed for the construction project.

He wouldn't speculate on the amount of time which will be needed to finish the purchase of property and said a target date for letting of bids for construction of the interstate highway would be set by the department after the right-of-way purchases are made.

Highway department officials are now waiting for state and federal approval of the route and design public hearings held here last fall and also approval of all environmental impact statements which must be submitted before they can begin the appraising and purchasing of right-of-way.

Roy Johnson of the district highway appraising office said one approval is given for those portions of the project, appraisers will be sent to the field to look at 58 specific parcels of land which are in the proposed route of the interstate highway.

The appraisers will eye the property to figure the fair market value of the land and structures based on land sales in the county and other factors.

Then the property owners will be contacted with the offer from the state highway department and negotiations for the purchase of the right-of-way will begin.

Even if the right-of-way is purchased there is apparently no assurance federal highway funds will be available for the construction of the highway.

Highway Department officials have been working on the proposed interstate, which is to link Amarillo and Lubbock, for nearly six years.

As currently proposed and ap-

Pay bill pleases city TSTA head

The president of the Randall County Texas State Teachers Association chapter said Friday he believes the $8000 teacher salary okayed that morning by the Texas House is acceptable.

The House bill, which passed with an affirmative vote from Rep. Bob Simpson of Amarillo, will now go to the Senate where another educational financing bill is undergoing scrutiny in committee.

The local chapter of TSTA passed a resolution several weeks ago urging the legislature to adopt a $10,000 minimum salary for starting teachers, but President Dave Corley, junior high principal, said "I don't think any of us expected the $10,000.

"It would be too big a jump," he said.

Rep. Bob Simpson of Amarillo, Canyon's state representative, reported that he voted for passage of the bill given House approval on third reading Friday afternoon.

He said the education package approved by the House will cost about $721 million, which he said is close to the amount the state comptroller can certify for this session which would be available with no new taxes.

The pay raise for teachers, which would be implemented on a schedule designed to reward those teachers who've taught for a longer period of time, is only one part of the measure which now goes to the Senate.

Simpson said the bill also includes $76 million for equalization funds designed to bring poorer districts up to the average in terms of school expenditures.

"I understand the Canyon School District will receive about $60,000 of the equalization funds," he said.

Funds are also added to supplement transportation needs in local districts and for educational programs such as those for educationally disadvantaged children.

A key portion of the bill allocates $250,000 to simulate the weighted pupil approach to figuring state funding levels for local districts. Simpson said the bill calls for the idea, originally proposed in legislation promoted by the governor, to be simulated in 12 selected school districts over the next two years.

"We'll keep the minimum foundation program as we have it now," he said. "But, the economic index will be changed."

The economic index, now used by the state to figure how much state money will go to a local district for education, has in the past been a complicated formula based on a county's tax values and other factors.

The economic index which would be used if the bill passes Senate and gubernatorial okay would be based on 100 per cent market value of property in the district, which would be given a 50 per cent weight in the formula. The income of the school district would be given a 50 per cent weight.

Simpson said this type of index to figure the state's share would be in use for only two years be-

Doctor degrees again studied

Feasibility studies on the offering of two doctoral degree programs are expected to be completed by West Texas State University officials by mid-July for possible presentation to the state higher education coordinating board.

Dr. Ray A Malzahn, academic vice president, said work has been resumed on the possible proposal of initiaing two doctoral-level degrees—one in agriculture business and the other in education—at the university.

WTSU does not offer doctoral programs currently.

He said the feasibility studies, which he said are being pursued "very carefully," should be completed by mid-July, and if the studies are favorable it is possible the proposal for implementation of the two degree programs could be submitted to the Coordinating Board, Texas College and University System at its meeting during the third week in July in Austin.

"Any question of doctoral programs needs to be very carefully researched," he said, "and we're doing that now."

Malzahn said the outcome of the feasibility studies will determine whether the proposals are presented the coordinating board.

The proposals might also be given the university's board of regents for discussion and approval at the regents meeting scheduled in early June.

Malzahn indicated there is reason to fear that proposals for a doctorate in education may prove unfeasible. He was neither optimistic nor pessimistic about the prospect for a doctorate in agriculture business.

He said he understands that the current policy of the coordinating board is that medium-sized universities might be approved for one doctoral-level program but only if that program is unique in the state and also very much needed in the state.

For example, he said, Stephen F. Austin University downstate offers a doctorate in forestry.

"Education obviously would not fit that policy," he said. "Agriculture business could. I think it does, but I'm not that intimately acquainted with what other institutions are doing."

Weather watch planned by club

A group of Canyon CB radio buffs who want to put their interest and their equipment to use for the community are organizing to provide an early warning system in case of severe weather.

David Graham of Canyon, who graduated Saturday from West Texas State University, said the group has a potential membership of about 50 CB radio operators who might be interested in posting themselves in locations around the city in severe weather to warn the Canyon population of impending tornadoes or hail.

Graham said many of those interested in forming such a group have lived in Canyon a number of years and understand the unpredictable nature of the area's weather.

He said the group hopes to supplement existing warning units such as the sheriff's office deputies and police and fire department weather watchers.

The plan promoted by Graham would have volunteer CB radio operators stationed in conspicuous locations around the city — locations such as the top of Buffalo Bowl hill and near the Dreamland Cemetery — to watch for dangerous cloud formations and for tornadoes or hail. They would go to their weather watch locations any time a severe thunderstorm or tornado watch are posted by the U.S. Weather Service.

By using their CB car radios, he said, the men can keep each

After 13 years, man gets degree

Van Schickendanz moved to Canyon 13 years ago to give his children direct access to a college education and ended up taking advantage of the facilities offered by West Texas State University himself.

Schickendanz graduated with a bachelors degree in psychology Saturday afternoon after taking two night courses a semester for about 10 years.

He'd been out of high school 21 years when he gave up farming in Oklahoma to come to Canyon so his children could go to college and he wound up on a self-improvement program which he does not see ending with his baccalaureate degree.

A native of Fargo, Okla., Schickendanz graduated from high school in 1941 and had plans of going on to college.

His plans were dashed by the advent of World War II and American involvement in that war and Schickendanz knew he was draft-age material.

He waited out the draft until Nov. 4, 1942 by attending Enid Business College.

As an instrument flight instructor in the Army Air Corps, Schickendanz was unable to attend college during the war although he served his tenure in the States.

After the war, he returned to Oklahoma and began farming.

"I farmed for 12 years and when it looked like I was gambling the kids' education against the weather, I moved here and worked for Phillips for two years," he said.

Schickendanz is now employed at the Pantex plant in Amarillo.

The decision to move to Canyon came as the Schickendanz' oldest son, Wayne, was graduating from high school and as their youngest son, Roy, was entering the first grade.

While all of Schickendanz' six children have had the opportunity to attend college, and while several have taken advantage of the opportunity, Schickendanz will beat all his children in receiving a college diploma.

Roy will graduate from a technical college in Dallas next December.

After arriving in Canyon in 1962, Schickendanz enrolled for one night course at WTSU "to get on speaking terms with college-level problems because I could see college was going to be in my life for the next 18 to 20 years.

Schickendanz liked that first taste so much, he embarked on a pre-planned and thought-out program of self-development, devoting two nights each week to college courses with the ultimate

CANYON SENIOR CITIZENS chairman, E.R. (Dutch) Cleavinger, accepted a gift of $100 toward the group's building fund from Mary Ann Mankin, center, president of Zeta Tau Alpha Alumnae Association, and Lois Prichard, ZTA bridge marathon chairman.

ZTA Bridge Marathon Benefits Sr. Citizens

The sixth annual Bridge Marathon sponsored by the Zeta Tau Alpha Alumnae Association was concluded Tuesday evening after seven months of bridge activity.

The ZTA Alumnae Association has elected to present the proceeds of $100 to the Canyon Senior Citizens Association, according to Mary Ann Mankin, president 1974-75.

Winners of the seven month marathon prizes were Mr. and Mrs. David Davidchik, first, and Mr. and Mrs. Murray Bonifield, second, for the couple's events; and teams of Irene Ball and Pauline Williams, first, and Mary Black and Lois Prichard, second, in the ladies competition.

Winners of the finale night marathon bridge games on Tuesday at Canyon Community Center were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Muir, first, and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Rice, second, in the couple's games; and teams of Vida Daugherty and Hazel Walsh, first, and Irene Ball and Pauline Williams, second, in the ladies team competition.

The bridge marathon was under guidance of Lois Prichard, overall chairman, with Georgine Tirey as chairman for finals night.

SERVICE AWARD from the Randall County Unit of the American Cancer Society was presented at the May luncheon meeting on Friday to Mrs. John Wieck, left, who served as crusade collector covering the Umbarger community. Allene Stovall, retiring chapter president, made the presentation.

Water Policy To Be Eyed

An objection to current city policy concerning extension of water lines to subdivisions will be voiced Tuesday night by Developer A.W. Lair to city commissioners.

Lair has requested a discussion with commissioners concerning the policy.

Other business scheduled for commission attention includes:

*consideration of proposed cable television franchise agreements. Two such agreements have been given commissioners.

*discussion of garbage pick-up in the Hunsley Hills area. At their last meeting, commissioners voted to require residents of the area to place their trashcans at curbside to facilitate pick-up.

*consideration of an appointment of a lay representative to the advisory council for the major library resource center in Amarillo.

Commissioners will meet at 7 p.m. Tuesday—rather than Monday—at the community center.

A Good, Solid Win

By CARROLL WILSON

President Ford's swift and decisive action in sending U.S. Marines to free the captured Mayaguez and its crew is, certainly, a commendable show of muted, level-headed force.

That it puts a bit of polish on America's somewhat tarnished image in foreign policy is, as Henry Kissinger says, "a bonus."

But, the American people should not become too heady over the brief experience.

We have not returned to the days of Teddy Roosevelt, and we cannot.

In the context of the United States' foreign policy posture, the Mayaguez reaction is a freak event, an unlikely happening which tells us not that the U.S. has changed its fixed policy in foreign affairs, but rather that, again as Kissinger said, this country can be pushed only so far by the pudnit countries of the world.

In yesterday's paper, along with Kissinger's brief post mortem on the Mayaguez incident, is an interesting article in which the chairman of Gulf Oil Corporation reveals for a Congressional committee another and a more insidious type of extortion, the kind of extortion which has been plaguing American companies operating on foreign soil for the past decade.

The Gulf official reports that his firm was forced to pay about $4 million to support the election campaign of South Korean President Park Chung Hee, who alleges to be one of America's few remaining friends in the Far East and who beats his breast and howls at any hint American ground troops will be withdrawn to leave him to fight it out with his North Korean brothers.

The Gulf chairman notes that the president's fund-raiser "left little to the imagination" in describing what would happen to Gulf's billion-dollar holdings in Korea if the company failed to come up with the cash.

That is extortion pure and simple and no less a violation of Americans' rights than the capture of a privately-owned American ship on the high seas.

It is the kind of extortion which American oil companies have come to fear in other countries, particularly in the unstable climate of South America and the Middle East.

But, such extortion of American companies is not as easy to deal with as piracy. Just one of the hazards of doing business.

We read too much into the Mayaguez affair if we believe that it portends a toughening of American commitment in those affairs involving Americans.

While the U.S. can carry a stick down the street of world affairs with which to hack at the bared-teeth small country dogs snapping at its heels, it must put the stick aside when dealing with countries large or small which are in the shadow of China and Russia. The big stick is not a tool for detente.

With the United States committed to new relations with the other major nations of the world, the ping-pong paddle or the raised martini are more symbols of foreign policy than the stick.

And so it must be. If the world is to be secure, in the sense that we and our children can live with relative assurance of reaching old age, it must come through cooperation and not sabre rattling.

That does not mean, and happily President Ford realizes this, that we must put up with any embarrassment, any heel snapping, from pusilanimous pups in pudnit countries.

As in baseball the pennant is not awarded a team for a one-game winning streak, so in American foreign affairs we have not won a major victory. But at least we can have a beer in brief celebration for a good, solid win.

Oriental Art Course Slated

A course in Oriental art will be offered during the first summer term June 3 through July 11 at West Texas State University.

Pam Lenau, a graduate of Southern Methodist University in Dallas, will teach the three-hour lecture course. Originally from Muleshoe, Ms. Lenau has 60 hours of art and art history and studied Oriental art in Japan.

City Students Take Stipends

Three Canyon students have been awarded residence hall scholarships at West Texas State University for the 1975-76 academic year.

Clay W. Harper, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Harper, 2106 3rd Ave., has been selected to receive a $200 scholarship. He plans to major in math at WTSU.

Wayne King, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank R. King, Route 1, has been selected to receive a $400 scholarship. The 1975 graduate of Canyon High School plans to major in chemistry. He is a National Merit semi-finalist.

Irene L. Mitchell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Mitchell, 2623 11th Avenue, has been awarded a $400 Residence Hall scholarship. A National Merit semi-finalist, she plans to major in pre-medicine.

Raises, Promotions Probable At WTSU

Increased stability in student numbers at West Texas State University could have a favorable impact on deserving faculty next fall—in the form of promotions and merit raises.

While the official budget for next fall and for 1976 are still unknown because the Texas legislature has yet to act on a state appropriations bill, university officials have ginned up the processes for determining who will be promoted to higher rank and who will receive raises for outstanding teaching, professional development and research.

A university-wide promotions and tenure committee will continue meetings during the summer to determine those faculty members who will be promoted.

The fact that it appears promotions and merit raises will be available for some faculty next year is viewed by administration officials as an optimistic note.

"Non-promotion merit raises have been very few and far between because of the financial picture," Dr. Ray Malzahn, academic vice president, said, "Last year was the first year we had an appreciable number of promotions in at least the last couple of year."

University regents mandated a freeze on promotions and tenure granting three years ago as they conducted a search for a new university president to replace Dr. James P. Cornette, who retired in the spring of 1974.

University enrollment declines since 1970 have had an adverse impact on faculty promotions and raises. However, the stabilizing of the enrollment at the university this year has been viewed as a favorable factor. WTSU's budget is determined to a large extent on the basis of a formula which depends heavily on the number of students at the institution.

Malzahn said he is as yet unable to say how many faculty members can anticipate either a promotion or a merit raise.

"We cannot assume there will be x number of dollars for merit raises," he said. "From my perspective, it looks as if we will have some money for merit raises in addition to promotions. Until we get a bill signed (by Gov. Dolph Briscoe) everything is tentative."

Hermas Miller, financial vice president of the university, said he, too, believes funds will be available for merit raises and promotions but he has "no idea how much."

He said the determination must wait until the legislature finishes and passes an appropriations bill.

Senior Citizen Corner

This week's senior citizen is the vice president of the Canyon Senior Citizens Association, Mrs. Marie Bonifield.

In addition to her duties as vice president of the local organization, Mrs. Bonifield is a technical consultant for the Panhandle Regional Office on Aging. She has been in this capacity since December.

In her job, Mrs. Bonifield covers a 25-county area and helps in the organization of senior citizen groups.

Mrs. Bonifield is optimistic about the progress of the Canyon Senior Citizens Association. "I visualize a multi-purpose senior citizens organization here, one that has something for everyone," she said.

"I would like to see such things as health screening, a large print library, hobbies and arts and crafts," Mrs. Bonifield said.

Commenting on the local group, she said "the Canyon Senior Citizens Association is unusually active and capable."

Mrs. Bonifield has witnessed many more organizations like the one in Canyon throughout the Panhandle. "Because of public awareness, senior citizen organizations are growing extremely fast," she said.

Budget Discussion Is Set For County

County commissioners will meet with county elected officials Monday to discuss county spending during the first quarter of the year.

Commissioner John Fulgenzi suggested the meeting last week after reviewing figures which indicate that if the rate of current spending continues the county's budget will have been overspent by about $200,000 by year's end.

Fulgenzi said last week he wants to emphasize to elected officials that the county is operating under a tight budget this year.

Dist. Atty. Randall Sherrod is also to meet with commissioners during their regular session to discuss the options open to the commission for imposing paving district regulations on area subdivision developers.

Commissioners instructed Sherrod to look into the legal aspects of the situation and to report back at the Monday meeting.

Sherrod is also expected to discuss application for a criminal justice grant he wants to submit to the Texas Criminal Justice Council for federal funding for an investigator in his office.

Goerge Blackwell, local insurance agent, will meet with the commission to discuss workmen's compensation insurance for elected officials. Dick Palmer, an area insurance agent, will also meet with the commissioners to discuss insurance.

Commissioners meet at 1 p.m. in the Canyon courthouse.

Schools Doing A Good Job

Dear Mr. Wilson,

After reading in Thursday's edition of the "Honors Reading Program" of the CHS English Department, I am elated at the creativity and concern for the student which seems to be ever-present with the faculty and administration of the Canyon schools. Once again we who have children in school, as well as the general populace of Canyon, have a chance to express our gratitude to everyone responsible for this step forward in education for our children.

Yours Sincerely,
Sandy Morgan

Arthritis Drive Set For June

The West Texas Chapter of the Arthritis Foundation will be sponsoring a Victory March June 1st and 2nd in Canyon.

The Canyon Girl Scouts have donated the use of their scout house at 1605 3rd Ave. to the Foundation for the door-to-door campaign.

Mrs. Barbara Serres, chapter representative of the Foundation, said the scout house will be used as a drop-off point for the volunteers' kits.

The Victory March walkers will be calling on Canyon residents from 1-8 p.m. Sunday, June 1 and from 6-8 p.m. Monday, June 2.

The response to the Victory March has been great according to Mrs. Serres.

Mrs. Serres cited Canyon Chamber of Commerce president Roland Black and H.R. Fulton as being extremely helpful in assisting the Foundation to finalize arrangements for the Victory March.

The world has entered a new stage of history, the age of the maturity of man and the beginning of world awareness. The outlines for successfully establishing the unity and harmony required for this new society are found in the writings of the

Kidney Machine Fund Is Citywide Effort

Canyon Community Family Services Association has thus far collected approximately one-tenth of a $2,000 fund being sought to purchase a kidney dialysis machine needed for the Glen Williams family of Canyon.

Although early reports show a total of $226 on deposit for the family at both West Texas State Bank and First National Bank here, collection containers have also been placed in a majority of city businesses for the drive.

Mrs. Williams has a disease called polysystic kidneys and has been in Dallas since Easter in order to receive kidney dialysis three times each week. Her husband is a shop teacher at Caprock High School in Amarillo and plans to go to Dallas in early June to begin instruction on how to operate the dialysis machine in hopes that Mrs. Williams will be able to return to her family in August.

Mrs. Jewell Hill of Canyon has been in Dallas with Mrs. Williams in order to aid her in getting to the Dallas hospital for outpatient treatments and dialysis by specialists.

Sixth grade students of Rex Reeves Elementary School worked together to raise a large portion of the present fund for their fellow classmate's mother. In addition to sixth grader, Lane, the Williams family includes two other children, Drew and Becky, of the home.

Funds collected for the family will be used for the purchase of a dialysis machine so that Mrs. Williams may rejoin her family with any extra funds going toward the mountainous load of medical expenses incurred.

Residents may contribute aid to the family with donations being collected at both the West Texas State Bank and First National Bank of Canyon. Deposits for the fund should be earmarked for the kidney machine fund. Others may also make contributions in many of the local businesses where collection containers are located.

Upholstery Class Offered

Another community education course has been added to the summer term according to Ken Hart, Vocational Education Director at Canyon High School.

A beginning upholstery class will start June 10 with class meetings being on Tuesdays and Thursdays in the industrial arts department of Canyon Junior High School. The class will meet from 9 a.m. to 12 noon.

The five week course will feature instructions on tools, equipment, fabrics, accessory fabrics, repair and/or replacement of springs, stuffing, patterns, cutting and installation of new covers.

Registration and the payment of a $25 fee will be during the first class meeting.

Students will have the use of a sewing machine and some tools, but they will be instructed as to items they will need to purchase for their particular projects.

Instructor for the upholstery course will be Mrs. Lorraine Johnson.

Persons interested in the Community Education Program should contact Ken Hart at Canyon High School.

Boy Scouting Prejamboree Set

Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts and Explorer Scouts will be involved in a prejamboree for scouting on May 30-June 1 at Camp Don Harrington.

The event to gain public interest in scouting will include arena shows, a sunrise worship service, various camping experiences, a pre-scouting rally, Webeloes skit-o-rama, and a variety of field events.

It is designed to give the scouts an opportunity to participate in a council wide event similar to experiences gained at the National Scouting Jamboree.

About 3,000 youths, adults and visitors are expected to participate in the outdoor event and camp patches for shirts and jackets will be available at $1 each, according to Ken Thompson.

Wreck Injures Canyon Man

A 17-year-old Canyon area man was in undetermined physical condition Friday afternoon following a morning two-car wreck at the Buffalo Bowl overpass intersection with the east access road.

Calvin E. Spears was a passenger in a car driven by Mrs. Viola Maude Spears, 38, of Canyon on the east access road which runs parallel with U.S. 87.

Department of Public Safety Patrolman James Haley said the Spears vehicle, which was southbound on the access road was in collision at the intersection with Buffalo Bowl overpass road with a truck driven by Ernest Bustamante, 25, of Amarillo.

Bustamante, Mrs. Spears and a passenger in the truck, Dennis Heggie, 28, of Amarillo, suffered only minor injuries in the accident.

Young Spears was hospitalized at Palo Duro Hospital.

Little Friends Stories To End Until Next Fall

Weekly story hours for 'Little Friends' have proven to be well accepted by youngsters aged three through five and the interest has been "just tremendous" according to Ora Mae Roberts, Friends of the Library committee chairman for the project.

The 'Little Friends' will be having their last story hour on May 22 at Canyon City Library before dismissing for the summer months. The story hours will be resumed when school's open in the fall.

Several new ideas and activities will be studied and discussed by the committee during the summer for incorporation in the program this fall. In addition to stories, the children have been entertained with flannel board stories, chalk art and other special projects with numerous readers and assistants working with the project. Story hours this spring served between 10 and 30 youngsters each week.

Grad Courses Set For Summer Term

Two graduate summer courses will be offered by the West Texas State University Department of Business Education, School of Business.

Dr. C. C. Callarman, professor of business education, will conduct "Business Educators Use of Business Community" and "Shorthand Roundup" during the second summer term July 14 through Aug. 16.

The business educators course will be taught from 9:10 a.m. to 12:20 p.m. Monday through Friday.

During the first hour of the class, Dr. Callarman will outline the day's activities. Until 12:20 p.m. the class will visit Amarillo and Canyon business firms to gain insight into personnel and financing problems. "We want to see the nitty gritty of the business," Dr. Callarman said.

"Few college people really know what goes on in a business. We want to see the other side of business instead of the glamour side."

After visiting the businesses, the 15 members of the class will return as a group and work out a three-day teaching assignment. They will take the information back to their high school, junior college and college classes.

Schedule for visiting is July 15, Palo Duro Hospital, Ray Grimes, manager, Canyon; July 16, Social Security Administration, Travis Briggs, district manager, Amarillo; July 17, Canyon News, Troy Martin, publisher; July 18, Santa Fe Railroad; James Fitzgerald, general manager and W. R. Hill, assistant general manager, Amarillo; July 21, Pioneer Natural Gas Company, Jay Mardis, Manager, Canyon; July 22, American Quarter Horse Association, Garnis Hagen, public relations manager, Amarillo; and July 23 Department of Business Education Summer Courses United States Post Office, LeRoy Moreland, postmaster, Canyon.

Additional firms to be studied include July 24, Cooper's Thriftway Grocery, Benny Cooper, manager, Canyon; July 25, Canyon Chamber of Commerce, Roland Black, manager; July 28, Pnhandle Saviings and Loan Association, Wilton White, president; Amarillo: July 29, Sears and Roebuck Company, Keith Dallas, store manager, Amarillo; July 31, West Texas State Bank, David Levens, president, Canyon; July 31, Furrs' Supermarket Offices, Ray Holbert, produce supervisor, Amarillo; and Aug. 1, Amarillo Air Terminal, Bill Wilson, airport manager.

Degree. . .

goal a degree in education.

"I knew it would be a 10-year program," he said, "and it looked like I would graduate from college when the youngest graduated from high school."

Schickendanz's college career was interrupted briefly when he was transferred in 1967 to Nebraska, but once there he began taking college courses in psychology during the evenings and when he returned to Canyon he was able to apply those hours to his degree program here.

After 13 years of hard work, Schickendanz looks back with little regret.

His family, he says, "is pretty proud of the fact I'll be getting my degree. It took some cooperation on their part. I had to study some times when I wanted to go to some school activities with the kids."

Schickendanz says frankly that it is with "a great feeling of relief" that he has completed the degree work.

But, he says with a grin "I'll probably wind up in a masters program next semester."

From that point, the route will veer to the east to link up with Washington Street and the interstate route will follow along Washington into Happy where it will again meet U.S. 87.

Design plans for the project indicate Canyon would be accessible from the interstate by way of several exits.

"It's a most unusual situation," he said. "It's apparent the calf was killed for this purpose — for the sex organs. It definitely was this and not a predator.

building.

The additional offices will be added to the project through a change order, Pond said.

The legislation, introduced by Rep. Bob Simpson of Amarillo, and carried in the Senate by Sen. Max Sherman of Amarillo, allows Texas counties to construct branch office buildings in other towns in their county boundaries, but restricts the types of offices which may be placed in those office buildings.

The bill also restricts the amount which can be spent on such a building. The restriction means that Randall County could not spend more than about $2 million on such a building.

Bill. . .

fore property values alone would be used as the formula.

"As I understand it, in my legislative district this would not call for additional taxation for the next two years," he said.

The House bill would reduce the number of school days during the year from the current 180 to 174.

Simpson said this portion of the bill was provided to allow school districts more flexibility in designing quarter system approaches and so that school teachers might be able to attend summer college sessions, many of which either start or end while public school sessions are still underway.

Graham said he has talked with police and sheriff department officials to coordinate the group's activities.

A system of the same kind, he said, is active in the Wellington area and also around Lake Meredith.

Kathy Gist-Mike McConathy Pledge Morning Vows

Mrs. Mike McConathy
nee Kathy Gist

Miss Kathy Gist and Mike McConathy pledged double ring marriage vows Saturday morning, May 17, at 9:30 a.m. in the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R.B. Gist, Jr., at Rt. 2, Canyon.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J.G. McConathy of Fort Worth.

Marriage rites were pronounced by Tom Douglas from Abilene and Mrs. Cortez Dowlen played at the piano with Stephen Rhodes giving vocal arrangements of Annie's Song by John Denver, For Baby (For Bobbie) arranged by H.J. Deutschendorf, Jr.; and The Gift of Love a folk tune arranged by Hal Hopson.

An archway covered with greenery framed a candle ceremony table which held three candles and was covered with a white cloth. Matching baskets of flowers with baby's breath, roses and assorted spring flowers accented the candle table and through the picture window was a yard scene of mums, calladiums and honeysuckle vines with a rock garden for interest.

Presented in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal wedding gown of white chiffon over bridal taffeta designed with a fitted bodice. The dress featured a V-neckline enhanced with a wide collar accent of Cluny lace. The center front of the wedding gown was adorned with chiffon flowers and the waistline was framed with a layered chiffon sash that tied in the back. The softly gathered wedding skirt was swept to back fullness and cascaded into a chapel length wedding train with a framing border of the matching Cluny lace. She wore a single layer of bridal illusion edged with lace at fingertip length and attached to a camelop cap of venice lace.

Attending the bride were Patti McConathy and Mrs. Kenneth White. Both bridal attendants wore floor length apricot dresses of sheer organza over taffeta with fitted waists and V-neck designing accented with ruffles and an edge of white lace. Matching lace was repeated at the waistlines of both gowns and the bridal attendants carried bouquets of sonia roses, stephanotis and baby's breath. Both had fresh flower accents in their hair for the occasion.

Stanley Lee of Fort Stockton was best man. Groomsman was Jim Bennett, also of Fort Stockton. Candlelighters were Mark McConathy and Robert Gist, brothers of the couple.

The wedding ceremony was followed with a reception at the University Church of Christ in Canyon where guests were registered by the bridegroom's sister, Kim McConathy. A three tiered white wedding cake with pale green rope design and fresh roses was served. Matching bouquets of fresh flowers adorned the serving table where guests were served sausage pinwheels, and selected fresh fruit from a tray of bananas, mandarin oranges and pineapple. Wedding punch was also served and presiding at the reception table were Freida Gist, sister-in-law of the bride, and Sharon Hinders.

The bride changed to an apricot colored street length dress with fitted waistline and ruffled tip at the V-neckline for travel to Colorado and New Mexico where the couple will be honeymooning.

After May 23 the couple will be at home at 1712 7th Avenue in Canyon.

A graduate of Canyon High School, the bride is also a graduate of Abilene Christian College with the bachelor of home economics education degree. At ACC she was a memeber of Ko Jo Kai sorority, American Home Economics Association and the Texas Home Economics Association.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Aledo High School and attended Abilene Christian College majoring in industrial arts. He recently opened a new business in Canyon "The Blue Gem" which features Indian made jewelry as well as custom made jewelry by McConathy.

Nuptial Rites Unite Bridget Brom-Allen

Sacred Heart Catholic Church in Seymour was the setting for double ring marriage rites uniting Bridget Marie Brom and Robert David Allen on May 17.

Miss Brom is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Richard Brom of Route 1, Seymour. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jay D. Allen of the Palo Duro Club of Canyon, Tex.

Rev. David Redmond, O. M. I. officiated at the double ring ceremony and musical arrangements were presented by Mrs. Irene Francis, organist, and Mrs. Dusty McCord, soloist. Music for the ceremony including On This Day, O Beautiful Mother by Lambillotte and O Sacred Heart, O Love Divine. Spring bouquet arrangements decorated the church altars.

Presented in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of candlelight sata-peau in a princess styling with a deep yoke and long tapered sleeves fashioned of pearl accented peau-de-ange lace. A ruffled flounce of matching lace trimmed the skirt and cathedral train. A demi-cap of matching lace accented with seed pearls held her fingertip veil of imported illusion. She carried a colonial bouquet of white jeffette orchids, pink rosebuds and baby's breath with pink and white floorlength streamers tied in love knots.

The bridal attendants wore princess styled dresses of crepe highlighted with sweetheart necklines and wore picture hats as they carried nosegays of spring flowers and baby's breath. Bridesmaids were Miss Marilynn Mocek, cousin of the bride, who wore an apricot colored dress; Miss Susan Hull who was dressed in green and Miss Lori Shepherd, the bride's niece, who wore yellow. The maid of honor, Miss Jenny Durham, was dressed in blue and the flowergirl, Sheila Brom, the bride's niece, wore pink for the event.

Jimmy Allen served as his brother's best man. Groomsmen were James Derrington, Mike Swatzell and Steve Rankin with Mathew Shepherd, a nephew of the bride, serving as ringbearer. Ushering were Edwin D. Brom, a brother of the bride, and Jay D. Allen, Jr., a brother of the bridegroom.

A reception honoring the couple was held in Sacred Heart Parish Hall with Mrs. Jay D. Allen, Jr., sister-in-law of the bridegroom, at the guest register. Cake and punch were served by Mrs. Walter Shepherd, the bride's sister, Mrs. Edwin D. Brom, sister-in-law of the bride, Miss Peggy Henshaw and Miss Jana Weisinger. The reception was followed with a wedding dance after which the couple departed for a short trip to Ozark, Ala.

Miss Gibson-Branham Married In Ceremony

Candles in each window of the First Presbyterian Church in Amarillo formed the setting for the marriage May 17 of Miss Gloria Kay Gibson and Steven Karl Branham as Dr. James R. Carroll, pastor, officiated at the double ring ceremony.

A kneeling bench centered the front window framed by matching vases of spring flowers. The communion table was decorated with a cross and the family pews were marked with spring floral arrangements. Tall spiral candelabra framed each side of the communion table and a large white memory candle was lit by the couple as they departed the sanctuary.

The bride is the daughter of Kenneth and Christine (Jarrett) Gibson of Amarillo and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Gordon H. Branham of Ingram, Texas. The wedding ceremony featured solo vocal arrangements by Wayne White and Mrs. Robert M. Skinner, Jr. as the accompanying organist.

Presented in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal white gown of silk organza and English net with a chapel length wedding train. The dress was appliqued with Venice lace studded with pearls and sequins and featured long sleeves, a Victorian neckline, and A-line wedding skirt which cascaded from an Empire waistline with cut in the slightly gathered Chapel train. The wedding gown featured English net over the bodice and long sleeves which were appliqued with Venice lace and scattered with studded pearls and sequins. The sleeves and dress back were closed with covered buttons and the bodice featured triple strands of pearls sewn to the dress to give the effect of a neckline.

Her wedding veil was held to a Juliet cap covered with matching lace and scattered with pearls and sequins. The Chapel length veiling was accented with lace matching that of the dress. She accented her wedding ensemble with pearl earrings and carried a linen handkerchief that belonged to her grandmother, Mrs. Clifton Hayes Jarrett, formerly of Canyon. She also wore an antique cameo ring belonging to her grandmother as something old and borrowed a prayer book that her sister had used in her wedding previously. She wore a blue garter as something new and had a sixpence that her aunt, Mrs. Tom Long, had brought from Malta in her shoe.

Attending the bride were Miss Dana Moore as maid of honor; Mrs. Harold D. Moore, the bride's sister, as matron of honor; Miss Trudie Byers as bridesmaid; and Mrs. Tom M. Locke, Jr., the bridegroom's sister, as bridesmatron. Carrying floral spring nosegays, the bridal attendants wore dresses of sky blue with a sheen designed with a large ruffle at the scooped neckline and along the bottom of the skirt with full sleeves and wide cuffs. The bridal attendants wore matching Venician glass beads of light and dark blue which were gifts to the wedding attendants from the bride.

Richard Edgar of Amarillo was best man. Groomsmen included Jim Keys of Plainview, Bill Maroney of Amarillo and Tom M. Locke, Jr. of Amarillo, the bridegroom's brother-in-law. Ushers were Harold D. Moore of Amarillo, the bride's brother-in-law, and Craig Gibson of Guthrie, the bride's cousin.

The church parlor was the setting for the wedding reception where the bride's table featured a three tiered wedding cake decorated with spring flowers with a silver punch bowl based in a ring of spring flowers. A five-tier silver candelabra centered the bride's table and the bridegroom's reception table featured a chocolate groom's cake with a silver coffee service and three-tier candelabra for the centerpiece. Bouquets of spring flowers highlighted the reception tables and piano.

The reception houseparty included Mrs. Joe A. Gibson and Mrs. Robert P. Jarrett, Jr., both of Canyon; Mrs. Tom Long and Mrs. Merrick Gibson, both of Paducah; Mrs. Lewis Jones of Lubbock; Mrs. Hollis Cain, Mrs. J.T. Gibson, Miss Cathy Cain, Miss Connie Cain and Miss Suzanne Cain all of Springlake; Mrs. Mike Jones of Levelland; Miss Vivian Williamson, Mrs. Edith Amick, Mr. and Mrs. Donald L. Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Mack Settle, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Petropoulos, Mrs. Shannon Booth, Miss Melissa Moore, Miss Jennifer Settle, Mr. Trent Locke and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Harter, all of Amarillo.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Hayes Jarrett, pioneer residents of Canyon, are grandparents of the bride. Mr. Jarrett was a druggist and served as Canyon's Mayor on two different occasions.

Employed at Amarillo College Learning Resource Center as a library technical assistant, the bride was graduated from Amarillo College with an associate in science degree and was listed on the Dean's Honor Roll and a member of Delta Tau Omega social sorority. She is presently a senior student at West Texas State University majoring in social studies education and is a candidate for August graduation. She is a member of Phi Alpha Theta national history society, Pi Delta Phi national French honor society, Pi Gamma Mu national social studies honor society and Kappa Delta Pi national education honor society.

Woman's Book Club met Wednesday, May 7, at the home of Mrs. Lon Fanning for the final meeting of the current federated club season and conducted an installation of officers with Mrs. Fanning being installed as president for the coming two year term.

Installing officer, Rose Kinzer, also conducted rites for Mrs. L.H. Owens as vice president; Mrs. L.H. Brotherton as secretary-reporter; and Mrs. Louis Hinders, Sr. as treasurer.

The afternoon's program was presented on "needlework in early America" by Mrs. Mary Parker. She showed slides which included the modern adaptations of needlework.

Refreshments were served by the hostess, Mrs. Fanning, and co-hostesses, Mrs. Irby Carruth and Mrs. C.F. Marshall to twenty members. The club will resume meetings in the fall.

HWC Raises $280 Toward Van Fund

Although final count has not been completed from the bazaar, Mrs. Jimmy Marrs, president, reports that the club raised about $280 for the Forehand's van at the project.

"We would like to express our appreciation to local residents who supported the bazaar in behalf of the Forehand family," reports Mrs. Marrs.

Mrs. Marrs and her club will take their remaining handcraft items to the Palo Duro Shopping Center for a special sidewalk sale there Memorial Day, and will also be using proceeds to add to the van purchase fund.

As a club project it was voted to make a gift of $200 to the library through the bi-centennial plan where matching funds from the government will make the gift total $400 in spendable funds for the Canyon City Library.

Towne Shopping . . .

This week's shoppers are beginning to check with us for graduation gift ideas and we've got some honeys.

For the misses our selection of Gotcha Covered jeans is outstanding. We've not had such a great looking collection of these jeans in some time. You might want to choose from the 100% cotton pre-washed denims or the polyester cotton gabardine combinations. Gotcha Covereds also come in Indian Crash Cloth which is so popular with the young girls.

For the guys, from Hickock and Dante, a collection of masculine jewelry has arrived. In burnished metals, Hickock has come up with miniature Aztec Gods and Tiger Teeth. They have to be seen to be believed. Our friends at Dante have fabricated necklaces of hieshe beads along with several varieties of polished stone jewelry that is especially attractive for young men. It's all part of the peacock craze that is sweeping the country.

If you are seeking the more conventional gifts, you'll find those at the Towne Shop, too. In any case, we're anxious to assist you in making your graduation gift selections.

Thinclads Vie For MVC Title

The race for the team title should be between newcomer Southern Illinois and host Wichita State, but West Texas State University could be in the thick of things in the 65th Missouri Valley Conference track and field meet in WSU's Cessna Stadium next Monday and Tuesday (May 19-20).

Two conference leaders, sprinter Alvis Wright and weightman Marvin Self, lead the Buffs into the Valley meet, as well as indoor 880 champion Joseph Tiony. Wright, the indoor 60 titlist, has been clocked this spring in 9.4 in the 100, and Self has hurled the discus 158-3½ for league bests.

Tiony, who won the half-mile race indoors in 1:53.9 after finishing second with a 4:11.4 mile, will try for the double in both events in Wichita. Outdoors, the freshman from Eldoret, Kenya has run the 880 in a school record 1:52.5, second best in the MVC, and the mile in 4:12.6, fourth best in the Valley.

"All three have good chances of winning," Coach Bob Kitchens said. "Alvis is the best sprinter in the conference as far as I am concerned. Marvin has not thrown as well this year as he has in the past, but he has thrown much better the past two weeks in practice. I really expect him to have a good meet."

Southern Illinois, the Valley's newest member competing in its first league championships, looks to be an early favorite for the overall championship. The Salukis boast of excellent all-around strength, holding top five rankings in 18 of the 19 meet events.

Wichita State, with its strength based in the distance events behind All-American Randy Smith, is a strong bet for the runnerup spot. "Wichita State, in the past two weeks, has certainly improved, and it looks like they might challenge Southern Illinois for the crown," Kitchens added.

"As far as I am concerned, there are three other schools that could do a lot in determining who does win it," he added. "That's North Texas State, Drake and West Texas."

Alvis Wright, Karl Wright and Robert Dennis form a strong WT entry in the sprints, and along with freshman Curtis Lindley, should challenge strongly in the 440-yard relay. The Buffs have run a 41.2 this spring, second only to SIU's 40.5.

Other strong events for WT should be the high hurdles with Ricky Labus and Terry Penn; the pole vault with Mike Walker and Tommy Humphries; and the shot put with Self and Charlie Haddad.

"We don't have any one event that will make or break us," Kitchens went on. "We have to do well in everything we do, or we won't have a chance at all. We're just not that deep."

North Texas State is the defending outdoor champion, and the Mean Green and Drake shared the 1975 indoor title. West Texas State's best finish in a conference meet was the Buffs' second place in the 1971 indoor championships.

WT Recruits Jumper

Tommy Williams, who was the fifth-ranked high jumper in the nation this spring, has signed a national letter-of-intent to attend West Texas State on a track scholarship, Coach Bob Kitchens announced Monday.

Williams, an all-sport star for Lubbock's Estacado High School, jumped 6-10 this spring, the fifth best performance in the nation. He was unbeaten this spring until the Class AAA state meet in Austin, where he finished fourth with a jump of 6-7½.

"With his potential, Tommy will definitely be a great high jumper for us here at West Texas State," Kitchens said. "We feel he can go over seven feet for us here next year."

Williams, a 6-5, 185 pounder, was a three-year letterman for Coach James Miller at Estacado. He is also a three-year award winner in basketball, winning the Matadors' MVP award last year.

He was also a football standout, being named to the All-District 3-AAA team at tight end as a senior.

It was in track where Williams had his most personal success. The Matadors were 3-AAA champs in 1974 and '75, and Williams had a big hand in each championship.

"He has improved every year," Kitchdns added. "He jumped 6-2 as a sophomore, 6-4 as a junior, and 6-10 as a senior. We think every bit of his jumping is still ahead of him.

"He has the raw, physical attributes you like to see in all high jumpers. He's just a raw talent now."

Assistant track coach Mel Shivers signed Williams to the national letter Monday morning. He is the first high school track star to announce for West Texas State this spring.

Netters Aim For Third Title

West Texas State goes after its third straight Missouri Valley Conference tennis title in Tulsa May 20-23, but coach David Kent is shying away from talk that makes his Buffs big favorites.

"I think 'tri-favorites' would be a better way to say it," Kent corrected this week. "It should be a three-team race between West Texas, North Texas and Southern Illinois. Any one of the three could win it."

If pressed, Kent will put North Texas State on the hot seat. "North Texas should win it," he added. "They have juniors and seniors on their team, while SIU and we have younger players. Whether they will win it or not, I just don't know."

West Texas State goes into its fifth Valley tournament with excellent credentials for its title defense. The Buffaloes own a 22-7 dual record this year, and in addition own the championship trophies to four college tournaments. WT won meets hosted by Hawaii, Hardin-Simmons, and Oral Roberts, as well as its own team matches tournament last month.

The Valley meet this year will be a complete round-robin for the first time with each of the nine teams playing each other during the four-day meet. That style tournament could help the Buffs.

"What is going to help us is our depth," Kent explained. "We have some quality players down the lineup, and we might be able to beat some of the schools mainly through depth."

The quality in the Buff lineup starts at number one singles, where Brett Hall, a sophomore from Clear Lake, owns a 24-5 record, while number two Steve Johnson and number three Todd Reed are both 21-7. The rest of the lineup will have Jay Goss in number four (22-7), Wayne Marsh (18-4) at number five, and Bobby Kleinecke (15-7) at number six. Dana Caledonia, who alternates at times with Marsh, is 4-2.

In doubles play, Kent feels Johnson and Reed (9-5) should be the team to beat in number one. Kleinecke and Hall (9-3) will play number two, and Goss and Marsh will play number three.

Tuesday, the Buffs open with Wichita State and Drake. Wednesday, they meet Louisville and North Texas State. Thursday, WT plays Southern Illinois and Bradley, and Friday they end up with New Mexico State and Tulsa.

Golf Championship Set

"If we play like we did against Texas Tech recently, then we have a good chance at it," West Texas State golf coach Vern Farquhar says of his team's chances in the Missouri Valley Conference golf championships May 22-23 in Wichita, Kans.

The Buffs, mediocre most of the spring after winning the Midwestern University tournament last fall, bounced back strongly to whip Tech 21-6 in a dual match at the Amarillo Country Club on May 2. That will be WT's only outside competition before the MVC meet.

"That was the best thing that could happen to us," the veteran coach said. "It really got them fired up."

As an example, Randall Burton and John Hood shot 73's over the tough Hunsley Hills course to qualify in the final two positions for the MVC trip, and the worst round was only a 78. Junior Salinas, Tommy Smith, and Allen Johnson will complete WT's five-man team in the tournament.

Salinas, Hood and Burton will all be making their fourth trips to the Vally meet. "We've got a lot of experience, and I think we could be right up there," Farquhar added.

The Buffs will face a big challenge in the meet. North Texas State, competing in its last MVC tournament before becoming an independent, has won 12 of the last 14 titles. New Mexico State, the 1973 champ, is a perienial national power, and Wichita State will be tough on its home course.

The tournament had originally been scheduled for Tulsa, but was moved to Wichita when a course was unable to be found in Tulsa. In the restructured setup, teams will play 36 holes on Thursday and the final 18 on Friday.

The only three conference teams the Buffs have played this year have not really impressed Farquhar, however. "We've played Wichita State, New Mexico State, and Tulsa, and we can hold our own with any of them," Farquhar stated. "They are supposedly three of the best in the conference, and we can play as good as they can."

In Wichita next week, Farquhar will quickly find out how well his team really is.

Group To Study American Culture

Five students and two faculty members of West Texas State University left May 16 for Central America to study the cultural patterns of Costa Rica and Guatemala.

Dr. Robert Sawvell, acting head of the Geography Department, is coordinator for the trip. He will be accompanied by Dr. Travis McBride, head of the Political Science Department.

Students going on the trip are Rhonda Simpson, Idalou senior, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Isom, Box 425; Kathy Finley, Amarillo senior, 82 N. Tenn. Will Ferrell, Amarillo graduate, 1929 Harrison; Jeanette Head, 2523 7th Avenue, Canyon; and Thomas DiSalvio, Amarillo junior, 4318 Summit Circle.

The group will drive to New Orleans, La., where they will fly to Costa Rica. They will return June 1.

This is the second year for the Central America trip, Dr. Sawvell said. Last summer he took a small group to Costa Rica and El Salvador. The year before they visited Jamaica.

"This trip will give the student group exposure to another area. It'll give them something to compare their own area to," he explained.

He said the students will have a chance to study two countries with distinctly different cultural patterns. Costa Rica has a strong Spanish influence while Guatemala has an Indian heritage, he said.

"We'll get to see how the people live and their involvement in the economy and their society. We'll get to talk to people along the road for first-hand information. Even if none of the students speak or understand Spanish, just the opportunity to hear a native will be beneficial."

The group will spend one week in Costa Rica, one day in El Salvador and six days in Guatemala.

They plan to visit several volcanoes in Guatemala, one of which was active 10 years ago and one which is currently active. Dr. Sawvell said the volcanic area will give the students insight as to the effect on the landscape and on the people and their adjustment to nature.

In Costa Rica, the group will ride a train from the capital city of San Jose to Limon, a port city on the Caribbean. Taking eight-and-one-half hours, the 104 mile ride will stop 57 times.

"We'll get a first-hand look of native culture by riding third class," Dr. Sawvell said.

In addition, the group will fly to northeastern Guatemala to visit the Mayan ruins and the pyramid-temples.

Students can earn one hour of credit for one week of work in the field, Dr. Sawvell said.
